In presenting this valuable preparation to the notice of the public as an effectual remedy for the above, disease, the proprietor can with the utrust confidence warrant as a cure in any case either of recent date or of long standing. Its efficacy having been fully tested in some hundreds of cases, without a single instance occurring in which it failed to produce the desired effect, it may very justly be considered the most efficacious semedy ever yet employed; and having from its earliest introduction received the sanction of many eminent physicians, the proprietor deems it unuecessary to enter into any quackish recommendations of its merits, being satisfied that it contains such virtues within itself as cannot fail to prove its superiority over the remedies hitherto employed.

tains such virtues within itself as cannot fail to prove its superiority over the remedies hitherto employed. Rheumatism.—When this disease has assumed a chronic character and has been standing for several years it will sometimes prove very difficult to cure without treating it internally and externally at the same time; and in such cases Prout's Compound should be taken night and morning while using the Limment; and if this cour e be prisued it seldom or never fails to cure the most obstinate stages of the complaints.

In the other affections, such as stiffness and swelling of the joints, pains in the side and small of the back, originating from a sprain or deep-seated cold. In these affections it is only necessary to have recourse to the Limment; by rubbing the parts well with it and applying a piece of fiannel around them, it invariably removes this unpleasant complaint. In cases of stiffness of the neck and sore throat, it will prove equally efficacious and give permanent relief.

To Rheumatic Invalids.—Amids the various ills to which the human frame is subject, there can be none more tornenting in its effects than a severe attack of the Rheumatism; hence we would refer our readers to the advertisement of Thomas Prout, chemist in another column; by this they will perceive that the remedy so successfully employed in this complaint by the late Doctor Prout is now prepared for the public by his nephew.

From the enviable celebrity which the Doctor acquired by his skillful practice, there is no doubt but his remedy will be sought after with avivity by all who are thus afficieted; for ourselves, we can safely wouch for its efficacy, as we have derived great advantage from its use.

THE LATE MAYOR of Philadelphia has certi-ILT THE LATE MAYOR of Philadelphia has certified under seal of the city to the character of several Divines. Physicians, and gentlemen of high standing who declare positively under their hands (all of which may be seen at the place named below) that the Balm of Columbia is not only a certain preservative, but positively a restorative of the human hair; also, a sure cure for Dandriff. Who shall dispute, or who go baild! The only true have a splendid steel plate engraved wrapper with falls of Niagara, &c. on it. Enquire at No. 2 Fletcher street, I door below Pearl street, near Maiden lane.

PILES, DROPSY, SWELLINGS, ALL SORES, RHEUMATISM.—It is absolutely asserted on the most positive proof, that the above complaints are arrested and cured by the timely use of Hay's Liminent. It is impossible to find room in this paper to present those proofs which are conclusive and convincing. They may be seen at length as below.

The true article has a splendid engraved wrapper with agents and proprietor's name. Call at 2 Fletcher street, near Maiden lane, I door below Pearl street, where the article is sold.

BALDNESS .- A beautiful head of hair is the grand-ALDNESS.—A beautiful head of hair is the grandstrangely the loss of it changes the countenance, and prematurely brings on the appearance of old age, which causes many to recoil at being uncovered, and sometimes even shun society to avoid the jests and sneers of their acquaintance; the remainder of their lives is consequent ly spent in retirement. In short, not even the loss of property fills the generous thinking youth with that heavy sinking gloom as does the loss of his hair. To avert all sinking gloom as does the loss of his hair. To avert all these unpleasant circumstances, OLDRIDGE'S BALM OF COLUMBIA stops the hair from falling off on the first application, and a few bottles restores it again. It ikewise produces eyebrows and whiskers; prevents the hair from turning gray, makes it curl beastifully, and frees it from scurf. Numerous certificates of the first respectability in support of the virtues of Oldridge's Balm are shown by the proprietors.

ALBANY LOCK HOSPITAL.

ALBANY LOCK HOSPITAL.

Dr. COOKE.

THE unfortunate are respectfully informed that the Albany Lock Hospital, established and modelled after the much celebrated European Lock Hospitals, has many years since been founded at Head Quarters, No. 3 Norton street, Albany, N. Y. To those unacquainted with this institution, it is necessary to mention that it has for its object the cure of all such diseases, as syphilis, scrofula, strictures, diseases of the urethra, lumbaco, flour albus, impotency, diseases of the womb, seminal weakness of both sexes, nodes, caries of the bones, gonorrhora, gleets, with all venerial complaints in general, etc. etc.

Persons, ignorant of the nature of Disease, are not aware that many stages mark its progress from the commencement to its full development, originating in a most simple form; and through neglect or injudicious treatment, assume a more aggravated state of disease, and occasion absess, ulceration, pseudo syphilis, cancer, premature old age, too often ending in a protracted incurable state of miscrable existence.

This institution is under the superintendence and management of Progressor Cooke, M. D., D. D., Ll. D., of the city of Albany, N. Y., who will give his personal attendance at the Dispensary, attached to the Institution, at all hours to invalids requiring his professional services, He having had much more experience in this branch of medical practice than usually falls to the lot of any one Professor COOKE has a number of handsomely furnish-ed private chambers, at No 33 Green street, where he will receive gentlemen who may require medical aid. Re-siding himself on the premises, he will thereby be enabled to dedicate more than ordinary attention to his patients. Gentlemen will find it both convenient, as well as econo-mical, in all cases of disease, to retire to these furnished rooms.

The Pecteral Essence of Boneset, universally known as an excellent cough medicine, is prepared at this institution. Its efficacy being decidedly superior to any specific extant, is every where recommended in all cases of coughs, colds, asthma, croup, hooping cough, as well as in all complaints of the chest and lungs. Travellers, therefore, ministers of the gospel, orators, public speakers, therefore, ministers of the gospel, orators, public speakers, and families, should never be without their abundant and ramiles.

As long as Professor Cooke desires to benefit the public, it is proper he should continue his advertisement, for the good of strangers, as it is well known, people are extremely shy in speaking of cases of a delicate nature, even where a physician is pre-eminently successful.

Communications, post paid, to the address of Professor Cooke, M. D., D. D., LL. D., Albany, N. Y., enclosing a bank note as a counselling fee, will have attention—(none other will be received)—or a personal consultation may be had at all times as usual, at the Dispensary, which is properly fitted up and arranged with separate offices for confidential interviews.

BEWARE OF IMPOSITION.

RICHMOND, Virginia, July 15, 1830.

THE PUBLIC will be pleased to understand that I was the original discoverer of Judkins Ointment, and sole proprietor of the patent from September, 1817, until the expiration of the same; but having connected myself with Dr. Judkins in the commencement, I permitted the Ointment to bear his name. The term of the patent having expired on the 26th June, I have made an improvement in the same, and taken out a patent thereon.

Being aware that the Ointment would occasionally fall into many hands, some of whom would probably undertake to make it, and knowing the difficulty of the process nevertheless, it might be propagated in this adultanted that a sit might in some degree resemble the original—and in this way its good effects would be obliterated. Under these considerations, I secured the original and certain remedy for those obstinate diseases, some of which have so long baffled the skill of medical science.

Doctor W. Gunten: Sir: I now undertake to do what I should have done long since. Two or three years my wife was afflicted with what the doctors call carbuncles on her back, and her sufferings from which for two months, were beyond all description; they broke at different times into from fifty to one hundred holes, and when the cores were extracted and the skin cut off, the places became one large sore, about six inches in circumference, and were then an inch in depth. She was attended by one of the first physicians in this city, and various remedies were tried without rendering her any relief, or preventing the sores from increasing in size to such a degree, that we besores from increasing in size to such a degree, that we besores from increasing in size to such a degree, that we became seriously apprehensive that she would not survive much longer. I have applied this ointment, during the last three years, to every species of tumour or wound, without failure to produce a cure every instance. I consider it the most decided and efficient remedy in all cases of tumor, be the case what it may. I have found nothing so good for wounds of any description. It may be proper to add that the cure of a tumor called White Swelling, given over by the most distinguished physicians as incurable, and which they decided would, without amputation, prove fatal to the patient, was, under my immediate notice effected by the use of the Ointment, and the patient is in fine health, the limb affected by the tumor being restored to a perfect state of soundness. Also, that the leg of an aged man, which had been wounded, and exhibited one dreadful ulcerated surface from the knee to the foot, and which for more than two years had been considered incurable, was effectually cured by the application of the Oinment. I mention these two cases which fell under my immediate notice, and management, as a decided evidence of the efficacy of this remedy in cases of tumors and of ulcers. I have experienced as decidedly the good effect of this remedy in the cure of felons, and of every species of flesh wounds. It seems to me that any one who will observe the operations of this Ointment, must be satisfied as to its beneficial effects. I can with the utmost confidence, recommend the use of this valuable remedy. I am, sir, very respectfully. I am, sir, very respectfully, JOHN TALLIAFERRO.

"THE EXPOSITOR.—This contemporary Saturday paper is taking to itself a marked and most valuable character—that of the most faithful, careful and diligent reviewer of new books. It is in that respect certainly one of the best conducted papers in the world, and for country readers who would be kept an conrast of every thing new, and get its essence without the trouble and delay of indiscriminate purchase, the Expositor is invaluable. Mr. Tasistro, its editor, is an accomplished scholar in several languages, and writes with point, grace and spirit. Success is before him."

cess is before him."

The Expositor is published in New York in weekly numbers of twelve large quarto pages each, in plan much resembling that of the celebrated London "Athenacum;" for four dollars per sumum. It will be mailed to any part of the country if application be made to F. Taylor, Bookseller, Washington City, where numbers of the paper may be examined.

DEATTER TO DR. GREEN.

DEAR FRIEND:—Some three years since, I made application to you to restore my hearing and eye-sight and, at the same time, for a friend of mine, Mr. Norton (caro) who was afflicted with a great degree of deafness. I mention these circumstances, to bring the matter fresh to your mind. We received your remedy, followed the prescriptions and were soon restored to the use of our ears and eyes—our general health also improved in the mean time, by the excellent advice you gave us on the sub-ect of health and long life.

A young man applied to me a few days since for infor-sub ect of health and long life.

A young man applied to me a few days since for information; he is afflicted with weak eyes; medical men here in our parts of the world, tell him that the optic nerve is weak. I immediately referred him to you, as the only weak. I immediately referred him to you, as the only man in the circle of my acquaintance, who could give relief in such cases; and he not conveniently able to write, I concluded to write myself, and at the same time enclose your customary five dollar fee, and request that which is necessary will quickly be sent on.

Be kind and send to me one of your pumphlets on the subjects of health, temperance and long life.

Yours, in friendship,
G. W. ELLS, P. M.

SOUTHERN LITERARY MESSENGER.

THIS IS A MONTHLY MAGAZINE, devoted A chiefly to literature, but occasionally finding toom for articles that fall within the scope of Science; and not professing an entire disdain of tasteful selections, though its matter has been, as it will continue to be, in the may Party politics and controversial theology, as far as pos-sible, are jealously excluded. They are sometimes a blended with discussions in literature or in moral science otherwise unobjectionable, as to gain admittance or to sake of the more valuable matter to which they adhere but whenever that happens, they are incidental only; no primary. They are dross, tolerated only because it can not well be severed from the sterling ore wherewith it is ncorporated.

Reviews and Critical Notices occupy their due spa in the work; and it is the editor's aim that they have a threefold tendency—to convey in a cororn, such valoable truths or interesting incident embodied in the works reviewed,—to direct the the most inestimable and indispensable of auxiliaries, to him who does wish to discriminate. Essays and Tales, having in view utility or amusement or both,—Historical Sketches,—and Remansicences of events too minute for history, yet elucidating it, and height ening its interest,—may be regarded as forming the staple of the work. And of indigenous poetry, enough is pul-lished—sometimes of no mean strain—to manifest and to cultivate the growing poetical taste and talebta of our country.

cultivate the growing poetical taste and talehts of our country.

The times appear, for several reasons, to demand such a work—and not one alone, but many. The public minds is feverish and irritated still, from recent political strifes: The soft, assuasive influence of literature is needed to allay that fever, and soothe that irritation. Vice and folly are rioting abroad: They should be driven by indignant relauke, or lashed by ridicule, into their fitting haunty, Ignorance lords; it over an immense proportion of our people. Every spring should be set in motion, to arouse the enlightened, and to increase their number; so that the great enemy of popular government may no longer brood, like a portentous cloud, over the destinies of our country. And to accomplish all these ends, what more powerful agent can be employed than a periodical, on the plan of the Messenger; if that plan be but carried out in practice.

The South, peculiarly, requires such an agent. In all the Messenger; if that plan be but carried out in practice.

The South, peculiarly, requires such on agent. In all the Union, south of Washington, there are but two literary periodicals! Northward of that city, there are probably at least twenty-five or thirty! Is this contrast justified by the wealth, the leisure, the native talent, or the actual iterary, tisste of the Southern people, compared with those of the Northern? No: for in wealth, talents, and taste, we may justly claim at least on equality with our breathern; and a domestic institution exclusively our gwabeyond all doubt affords us, if we choose, twice the for reading and writing, which they enjoy.

It was from a deep sense of this local w It was from a deep sense of this local we word Southern was engrafted on the in periodical; and not with any design to nourie judices, or to advocate supposed local interests. Far from any such thought, it is the editor's fervent wish to see the North and South bound endeavingly together forever, in the silken bands of mutual kindness and affection. Far from meditating hostility to the North, he has already drawn, and he hopes bereufter to draw, much of his choicest matter thence; and happy indeed will he deem himself, should his passes, by making each region know the other better, contribute in any essential degree to dispel the lowering clouds that now threaten the peace of both, and to brighten and strengthen the sacred ties of fraternal love.

The Southern Literary Measurager has now reached the fifth No. of its third volume. How far it has acted out the ideas here intered, it is not for the editor to say. He believes, however, that it fails not further short of them.

The Messenger is issued monthly. Each number of the work contains 64 large super-royal pages, printed in the very bandsomest manner, on new type, and on paper equal at least to that on which any other periodical is
